

Why Attend: LF Europe Roadshow – Finance Track

Hosted by Linux Foundation Europe, Featuring FINOS

Date: July 8, 2025 Location: Hilton Milan, Via Luigi Galvani, 12, 20124 Milano MI, Italy

Join the Linux Foundation Europe and FINOS communities for a focused one-day event in Milan dedicated to the advancement of open source within the financial services sector across continental Europe. This event serves as a key regional gathering point, bringing together the themes, projects, and people who are actively shaping the future of regulated software collaboration in finance.

Whether your team was unable to attend OSFF London or is seeking an additional opportunity for in-person engagement within the region, this Roadshow stop provides a direct channel to connect with the open finance conversation.

About the Event:

Hosted by Linux Foundation Europe and featuring prominent leaders and contributors from the FINOS community, the Finance Track will cover essential topics for firms operating in or engaging with the European financial market:

- Open Source Innovation: Exploring the latest trends and opportunities for leveraging open source to drive innovation in financial services.
- AI and Regulatory Technology: Discussing the development and adoption of open frameworks for AI governance and regulatory compliance.
- Open Standard Updates: Receiving the latest progress and implementation insights on key FINOS standards like the Common Domain Model (CDM) and FDC3.
- Cloud, Compliance, and Collaboration: Addressing the challenges and solutions for compliant cloud adoption and effective cross-firm collaboration using open tools.
- Real-World Implementations: Learning from practical examples and use cases of open source being successfully deployed within financial institutions.

While the full, detailed agenda will be released soon, FINOS Members and attendees can anticipate sessions and discussions that mirror the strategic importance of topics covered at flagship events like OSFF London, presented in a more regional, accessible format designed to engage technical and strategic leaders located across the European continent.

Why FINOS Members Should Attend:

This event offers unique benefits for FINOS Member firms, particularly those with teams based in or responsible for European operations:

- Regional Voices: Opportunity to hear from and engage with new and emerging voices, projects, and use cases from the FINOS ecosystem specifically within the European region.
- Local Relevance: Explore open source projects and collaboration opportunities that have particular traction or relevance in continental European markets.
- Cross-Industry Conversation: Participate directly in the vital cross-industry discussions shaping the future of interoperability, AI governance, secure cloud adoption, and compliance in finance.
- Accessible Engagement: Engage directly with FINOS staff, project maintainers, and fellow contributors without the need for significant travel outside the immediate region.

Attendance for FINOS Members:

This provides a valuable, accessible opportunity for your European teams to engage with the community and key topics. Simply register early to secure your seat, as space may be limited.

Who Should Attend from Your Firm?

This regional event is highly relevant for a range of roles within financial institutions, especially those based in or focused on the European market:

- Engineering and Architecture Leads based in the EU.
- OSPOs, Open Source Champions, and Project Contributors located in cities like Milan, Zurich, Frankfurt, Paris, Amsterdam, etc.
- Strategy and Regulatory Technology teams interested in updates on CDM, FDC3, Open RegTech initiatives, and frameworks like CCC.
- Anyone who was unable to attend OSFF London but is seeking a high-value, regional alternative to connect on similar themes.

Why This Event Matters:

As FINOS continues to expand its cross-European presence and deepen collaboration across the continent, events like the LF Europe Roadshow are crucial. They bring the open source in finance conversation directly to where our members and the broader community work. This Milan event is a unique and valuable opportunity for regional teams to engage in-person, learn from relevant projects, build local connections, and help grow the momentum of the FINOS ecosystem across Europe.
